Little Light Being

I LOVINGLY DEDICATE
THIS ADVENTURE
TO ALL THE
LITTLE LIGHT BEINGS
WHO MAY HAVE FORGOTTEN WHO THEY REALLY ARE!

Once upon a Once there was a Magnificent Sea of Light.
It was called the Sea of Bliss.

Many Little Beings lived in this sea swimming about like dolphins.
Yes it was good!

One day while swimming in and out of the sea, two Little Light Beings bumped into each other

Getting out of the way the Little Light Being said

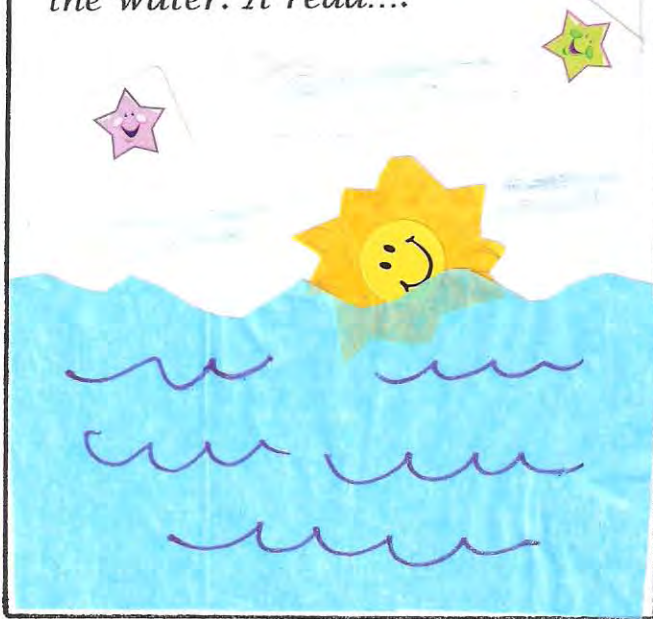

With it's mental stirring, the Little Light Being began to think of external form and a bit less of the spirit form in it's desire to know more. The imagination had been triggered and it's course was about to be changed. Diving back into the water it snuggled back into the bliss sea of God

A colored bubble floated by saying.....

And with that the bubble went Pop! showering colored sparkles all over the Little Light Being as he spotted something floating in the water. It read....

Catalog of Designs
You can be anything
You desire...look inside!

My, this must be important!

Just then another Little Light Being swam by looking at a Rabbit design.

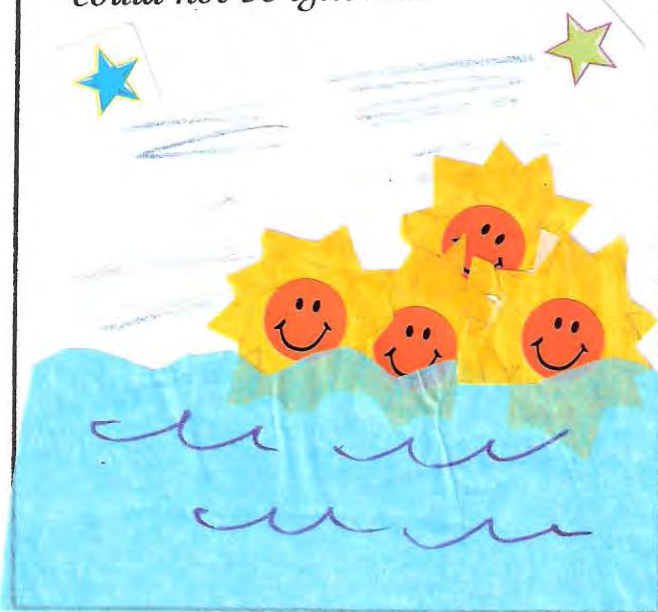

I'm going to be one of those.

One by one the pages kept flipping as the winds of change assisted exposing new ideas of material ways.

During one of it's swims it saw a mass exodus of others swimming away. The whispers and doubts surfaced again so strong they could not be ignored.

The Little Light Being began to really worry....

What if one day this sea disappears and I am left alone?
What about me?
I must find out, but where do I begin?

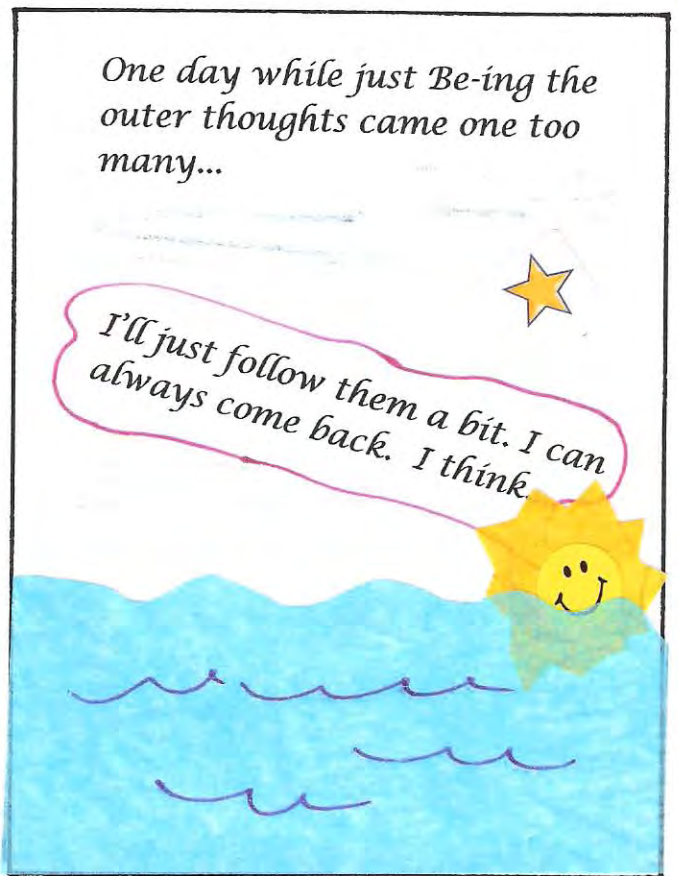

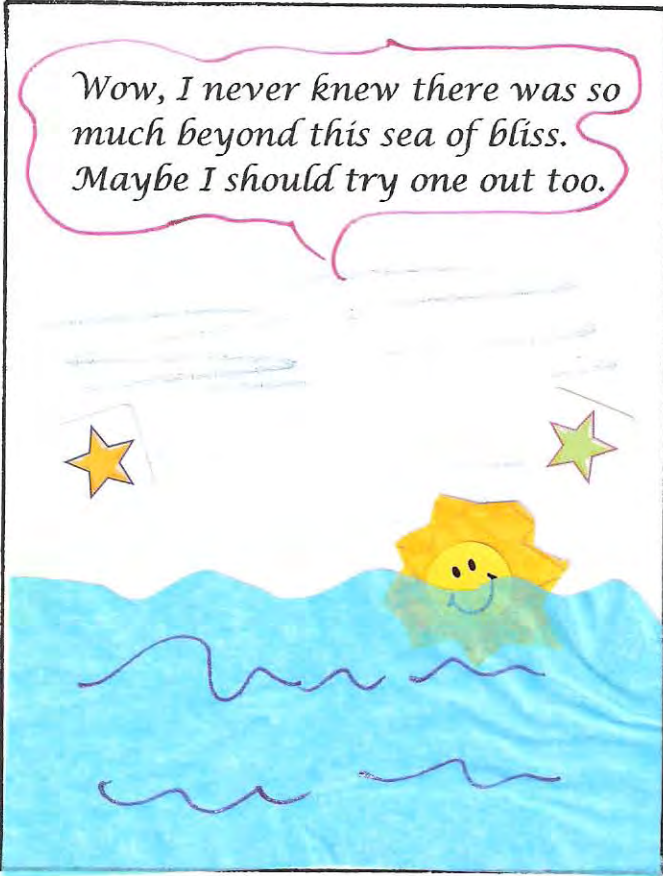

This decision was the turning point! The Little Light Being looked up into the universe for an answer.

Then it saw a bright light no, several bright lights blinking on and off.

It must be a sign from heaven!

With the space sign came the roar of a booming voice....

Are you leaving home ?

I guess so. The others are doing it.

Then, what is your choice of costume ?

I don't know. What do you have ?

Just about anything that you can imagine. Now here is a nice model.

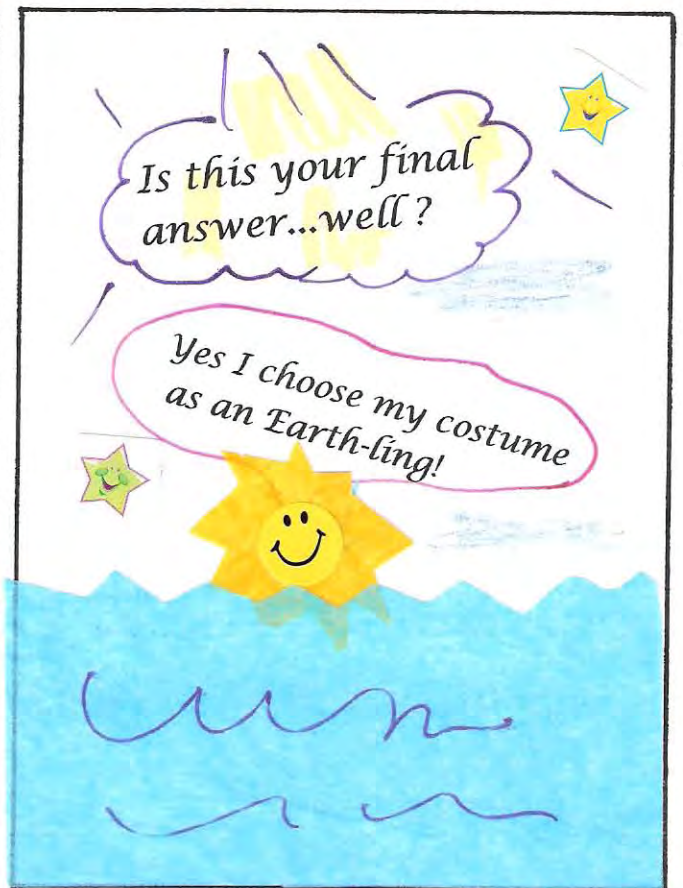

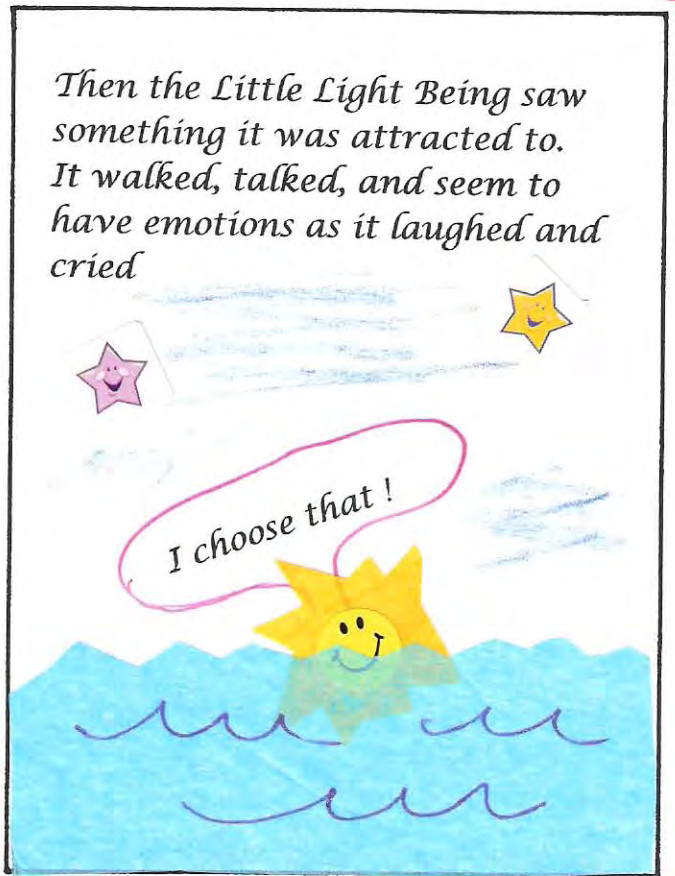

What is that ?

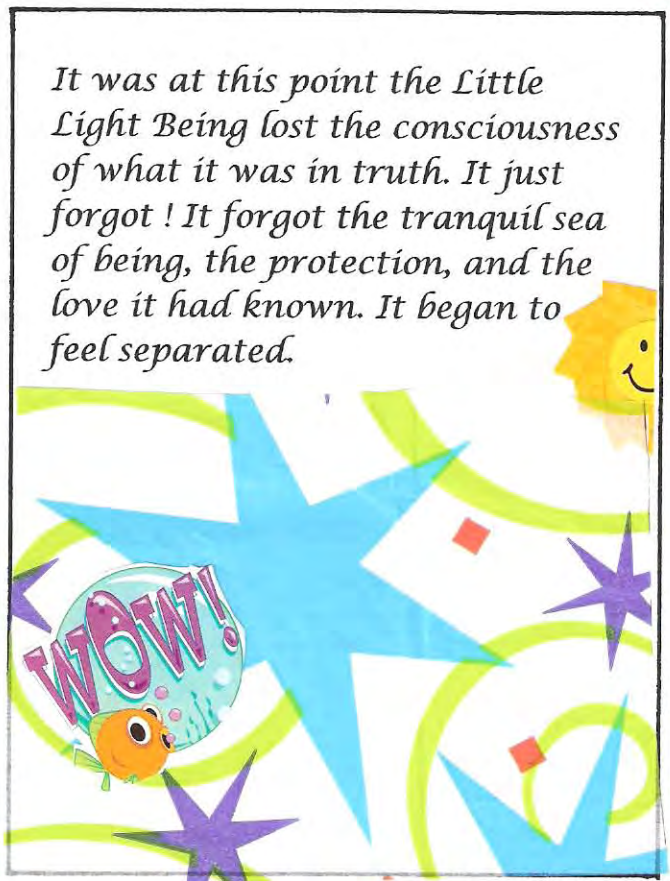

It is called an elephant. Big and strong and uses it's trunk very well.

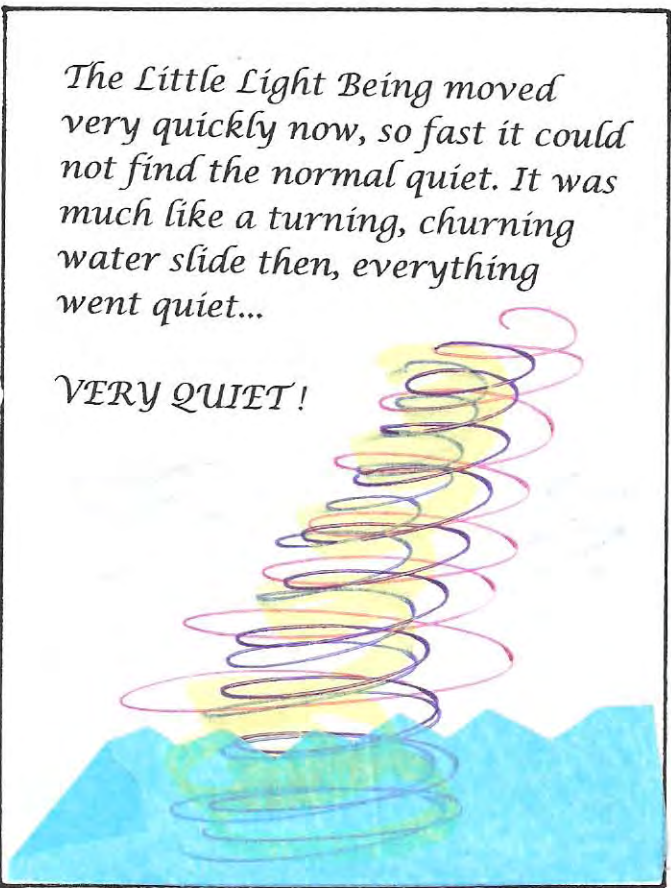

Oh, I don't think so bye

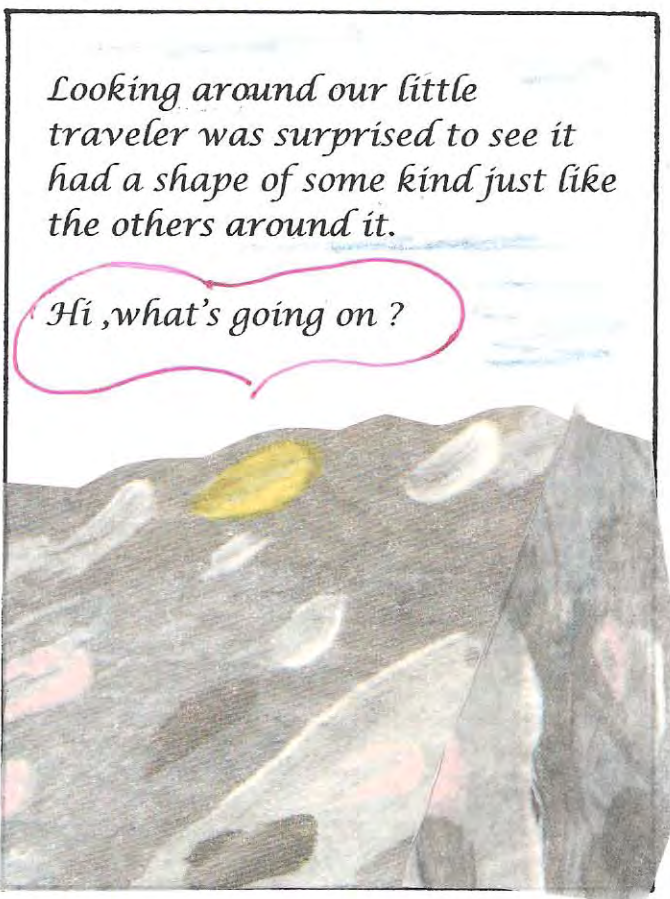

It was at this point the Little Light Being lost the consciousness of what it was in truth. It just forgot! It forgot the tranquil sea of being, the protection, and the love it had known. It began to feel separated.

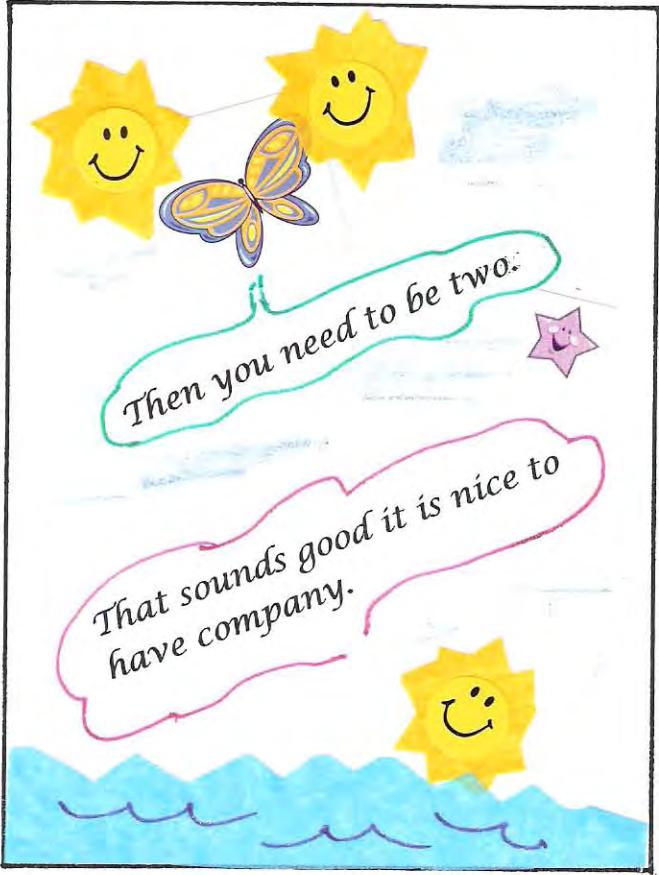

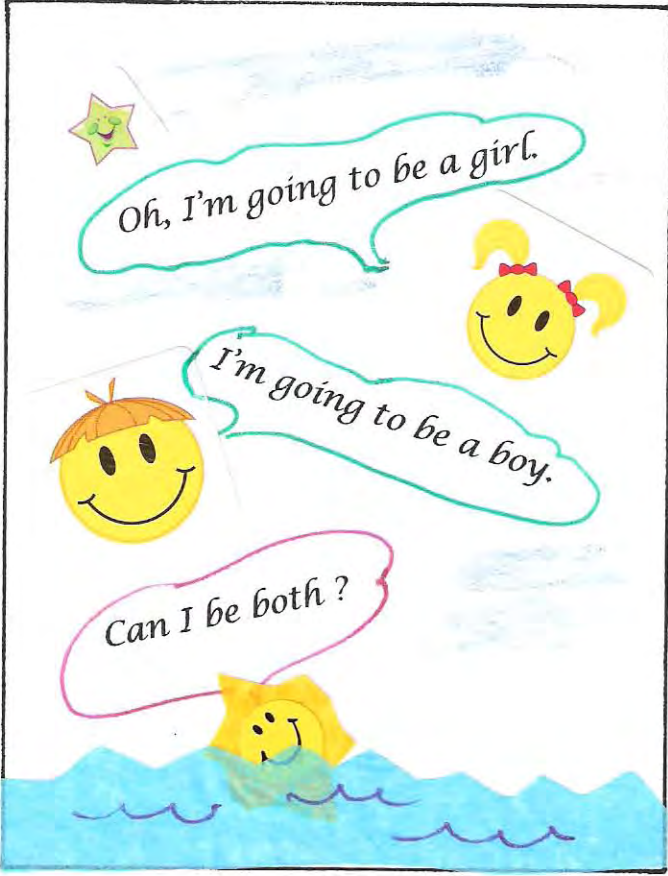

The Little Light Being moved very quickly now, so fast it could not find the normal quiet. It was much like a turning, churning water slide then, everything went quiet...

VERY QUIET!

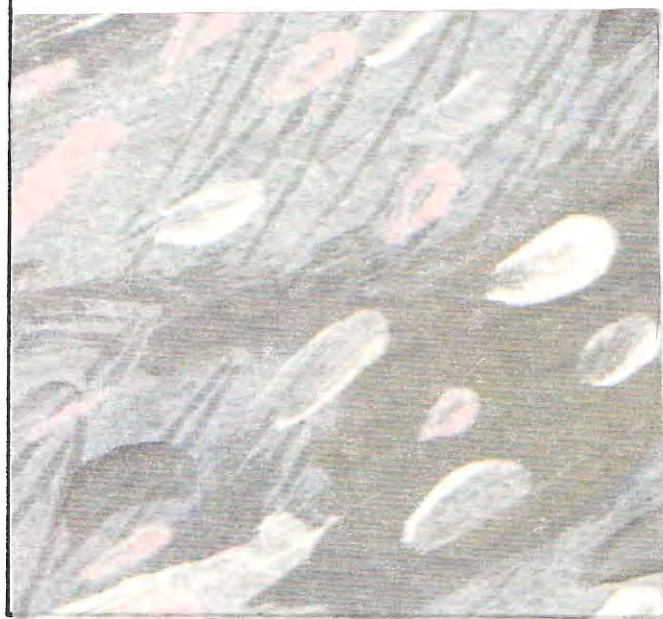

Looking around our little traveler was surprised to see it had a shape of some kind just like the others around it.

Hi, what's going on?

Before another word was said motion began and, everything began to move. The Little Light Being swam faster and faster...

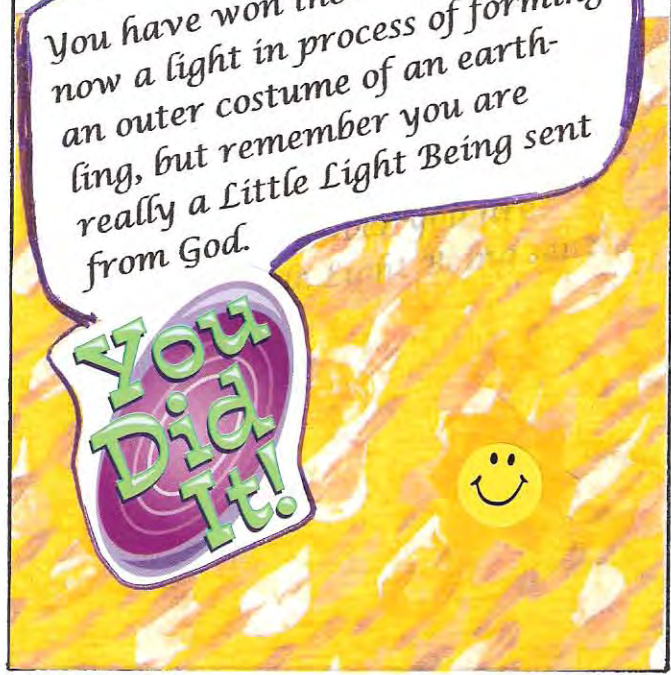

They bumped into each other. They pushed and shoved but when it all became quiet the Little Light Being found it's self in a calm dark peaceful place.

From somewhere it heard a voice say...

You have won the race. You are now a light in process of forming an outer costume of an earth-ling, but remember you are really a Little Light Being sent from God.

You Did It!

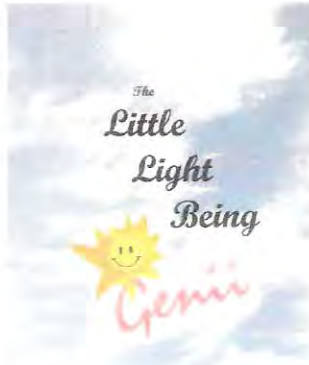

I'm a what?
What is a Little Light Being?

And so...
The LITTLE LIGHT BEING began its process of forgetting Who and What it really was once upon a once and, like many of us is on a path back to remembering..
